

2011 Wildlife Grants

By Al & Joanie Stone

$1000 – Eagle Valley Raptor Center, Cheney, KS. Center rescues and rehabilitates all kinds of injured and orphaned wildlife, especially eagles and owls. They are also a great education resource. Submitted by Earl and Ivalee Vanderhoff.

$750 – Phoenix Wildlife Center, phoenix, Maryland. They rehabilitate and release native MD species from bats to bald eagles. They are in need of a new waterfront enclosure that is predator proof with a small pool for migrating, geese, loons., etc. Submitted by Joe and Peggy Lins.

$700 – Fremont State Recreation area, Fremont, Nebraska. They need funding to improve lake habitat within lake #16. Shoreline and underwater habitat will include gravel beds for bass and bluegill spawning areas and stationary brush piles. Submitted by Michelle Stone.

$650 – Nebraska Nature Center – Wood River, Nebraska. Funds needed to build two towers to house chimney swifts, great birds for study. Submitted by Ken and Sandy Kendall.

$500 – Avian Conservation Center, Charleston South Carolina. They contribute to science, education, and conservation. Their clinic treats more than 500 injured birds each year releasing the majority back to their natural habitat. They presented a seminar on birds at the Ladson Campvention. Submitted by Walter and Marilyn Shealy.

$500 Operation Migration – he work to reintroduce endangered whooping cranes to the eastern fly route in North America. Submitted by Dave and Maureen Walker.

$500 – World Bird Sanctuary , Valley Park, Missouri. Treats over 300 birds each year and works to release as many raptors as possible back to the wild. The rehabilitation of a single bird of prey can cost up to $1,000. Submitted by Jill Serbousek.

WILDLIFE PHOTO WINNERS

AGE 7 – 13

- 1st Thaida Cassidy
- 2nd Seth Morgan
- 3rd Christine Ahlstran
- H.M. Cameron Taylor

ADULT

- 1st Patty Thieme
- 2nd Dorothy Gorham
- 3rd Angie Cassidy
- H.M. Angie Cassidy

WILDLIFE BIRDHOUSE WINNERS

YOUTH

1st Courtney Capan
2nd Cameron Taylor

ADULT

1st Melissa George

